AMERICA FOR AMERICANS

McKINLEY AND WILSON ABOARD.

In 1890 William McKinley was born in Ohio in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1894 William L. Wilson was born and raised in London because he is the author of a Free-trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

THE SILVER PROBLEM.

Commercial Gazette.

Farmer Anderson has two thousand bushels of wheat.

Mr. Jones has a thousand dollars worth of silver bullion.

Mr. Anderson's wheat is worth in the market $1,000.

So is Mr. Jones's silver bullion.

Mr. Jones goes to Philadelphia, takes his silver to the Mint and has it coined into two thousand nine, five, pretty silver dollars.

When Farmer Anderson brings along his thousand dollars worth of wheat, Mr. Jones buys it, paying him $1,000 and he has $1,000 left with which to buy the wheat of the next farmer that comes along.

Who is free coinage. Some people are sure that all the farmers in the country are shouting for it.

We should see a good many strange things in this country if the silver people should have their way.

A Southern Democrat is quoted as opposing all suggestions of a Southern man to head the Democratic ticket in 1906. He does not think the Southern Democrats are called upon to lead any foreign hope.

SENATOR PALMER in an interview says the action of the Illinois Democratic Committee in calling a State Convention to declare for free silver does not reflect the sentiment of the Illinois Democracy.

THE end of March gave us seven months of the Democratic crazy tariff tariff; under it our receipts were $101,744,688. Under the first seven months of the McKinley tariff our receipts were $219,583,107, a difference of about $117,838,419. The first seven months of the Democratic tariff immense quantities of goods were rushed in to get the benefit of the new tariff, yet the revenue under the law, says The Louisville Commercial, did not equal by $300,000,000 the receipts of the last seven months of the McKinley Law, when buyers were holding back orders in expectation of the new tariff, and when we were suffering the business depression caused by the assurance that the law would be repealed. During the first seven months of the Democratic tariff we have had an average deficiency of $7,000,000 per month. During the first seven months of the McKinley tariff we had an average surplus of $3,000,000. Oh, how smart we are in repealing the McKinley Law.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors prescribed a local remedy, and prevented local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has now discovered a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C. Hall & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. THAT DECISION.

New Exemptions Made in the Income Tax.

Full Force of the Blow Discussed at a Cabinet Meeting.

Royalties From Mines and Oil Wells and Rental Receipts Not Taxable. The Tax on Sugar Has Increased. Demand for Whisky Has Fallen Off.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The full force of the blow which the supreme court has administered to the income tax is hardly realized even yet. As the treasury officials examine the wording of the decision they find it necessary to extend the exceptions far beyond the limits which originally seemed to have been fixed by the court.

It was decided Tuesday to place among the exemptions all royalties obtained from coal mines, gold, silver and iron mines, oil wells, the product of rented farms, and in fact every form of revenue obtained. From the lease or rental, not only of land but of the contents of the earth.

The uncomfortable news was communicated by Secretary Carlisle at the cabinet meeting Tuesday, and the attorney-general contributed to the gloom by expressing the opinion that only a fraction of the income which was expected to be derived before the 1st of July could be collected under existing conditions.

Corporations, he said, would postpone the payment of their obligations to the government until the last moment permitted by law. In the meantime attorneys would have studied the action of the supreme court and would not doubt discover technicalities upon which to hang suits.

Individual taxpayers would, he feared, be organized into classes to secure the best legal advice for the continuance of a contest which promised them relief, or at least delay. The president, it is said, was very much concerned as to the effect which the unsatisfactory opinion of the supreme court would have upon the revenues, and it was generally agreed that the figures given so confidently to congress, in February, by the secretary of the treasury and the chief executive predicting a deficiency of only $80,000,000 at the end of the present fiscal year would fall far short of the mark.

A rough calculation made by Secretary Carlisle from figures brought by him placed the shortage at about $80,000,000, unless the receipts from sugar and whisky should show a sudden enlargement.

For some unexplained reason the demand for whisky seemed to have failed, so that the only certain hope of the government for an increase is in the duty upon sugar. If the commission of internal revenue collects $3,000,000 by the end of the present fiscal year the administration will consider itself fortunate.

A further revision of estimates which the decision of the supreme court has made necessary will, it is feared, be necessary as new flaws in what is left of the income tax law are discovered. While there is in treasury over $60,000,000 available for other purposes than the maintenance of the gold reserve, there is nevertheless an incessant less renewed demand for gold may be made this summer or fall.

The syndicate which has made a splendid profit from the latest bond transaction has pledged itself to maintain the credit of the United States so long as it is consistent with the permanent interests. This ought to be a guarantee that all gold needed will be forthcoming until October 1, but the treasury officials by no means place absolute reliance upon such assurances.

Whatever happens to the treasury, Secretary Carlisle has given the assurance to the president that he can manage to keep along without serious interference with the operations of the government machinery until the next congress meets in December. Neither the president nor any of the members of his cabinet desires an extra session of congress, and where all work in concert to avoid such a contingency they can undoubtedly accomplish their purpose.

From an expert source it is ascertained that if all the appropriations made by congress were paid without regard to the stringency in the treasury, there would be a deficiency as large as was stated by Senator Gorman last winter, when he charged that the obligations of the government exceeded its power to pay by $100,000,000. To keep the expenditures down it is only necessary for the secretary of war to curtail his allowances or payments for river and harbor improvements, fortifications and the actual needs of the treasury. The secretary of the navy must put a dead weight upon the appropriations for the construction of vessels for their armament.

In the summer, but not to such an extent, the other members of the cabinet can lighten the demand upon the purse in the guardianship of the secretary of the treasury; and even such a system of postponement has been carried into effect the appropriations have been delayed again in the treasury department itself, so that by manipulation a favorable or unfavorable statement is possible during any given period.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Joseph Brienfeldt, a butler in the employ of William E. Curtis, assistant secretary of the treasury, made a determined effort to commit suicide Tuesday in his room at the Curtis residence, and was probably aided by a servant.

THE AMERICAN PRINCESS.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The movement of Admiral Meno's squadron to Port au Prince is regarded as significant. Unless the Americans are relieved from their present position with the Haitian army, they will have to stay there as a demonstration. The Haitian army is expected at the department any day.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OLNEY.

He Advises Persons to Pay the Tax, and Then Bring Suit.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The scope and effect of the decision of the supreme court in the income tax cases, so far as they relate to the collection of the tax upon incomes other than those derived from rents and interest on state and municipal bonds, are the subject of general discussion. A wide diversity of opinion exists upon this point, and the various expressions tend to confuse the average mind. Attorney General Olney, for instance, is quoted as saying:

"So far as the lower courts are concerned, the decision of the supreme court is as binding as if the whole court had been unanimous in its favor. I can not believe that any judge would grant an injunction to prevent a collector from collecting the taxes on incomes derived from other sources than rents or state and municipal bonds in the face of the supreme court's action."

"The only way I can see by which persons who object to paying the tax can secure judicial action is by their paying the tax under protest and entering suit for its recovery."

VENEZUELA'S THANKS.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—President Crespo, of Venezuela, has sent a special message to the congress of Venezuela, concerning the attitude of the United States on the British-Venezuelan question. Immediately following the receipt of the president's message the congress passed resolutions of amid great enthusiasm, heartily thanking the United States for its sympathy and support.

Three Killed in a Wreck.

BRADDOCK, Pa., April 10.—A west-bound freight train on the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railroad, while running at a moderate rate of speed near Sylkes, a small station between Dubois and Punxsutawney, ran into a washout. The tracks run alongside the Clarion river at this point for some distance. The fog was so dense at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning that Engineer Taylor did not see the washout until he ran into it. The engine and eighteen freight cars were demolished and three persons killed. The dead are Engineer Taylor, of Bradford; Fireman Shen and Conductor Bruce.

Killed His Father.

HOSANVILLE, Ga., April 10.—Taylor Dunson, a farmer, died from the injuries inflicted upon him by his son. Several days ago the boy went on a hunt of his to cut wood for him. As Dunson had had a quarrel with his sister he became enraged that his son should have gone to her place. The father loaded two pistols and swore that he would kill the boy on sight. He attacked the boy with a stick instead of the pistols, when the latter turned and cut his father severely with the ax which he held in his hand. The coroner's jury justified the boy.

Typhoid Fever at Old City.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 10.—A special from Old City says that it is suffering from a typhoid fever epidemic and other contagious diseases. The health report for last month shows there were 180 cases of typhoid fever and about 70 cases of other contagious diseases. There is no abatement in the epidemic yet, and the people who are not sick are filled with apprehensions of what may come. Dr. Johnston, medical examiner for the state board of health, has made a report in which he holds that the epidemic is responsible for the epidemic.

Floods in North Carolina.

RALPHAM, N. C., April 10.—Heavy rainfalls to bridges continue. The rainfall was phenomenal, particularly at Chapel Hill, where almost five inches fell in 12 hours. Both the Cape Fear and Roanoke rivers are four feet above the danger line and rising rapidly. The Seaboard Air Line damages were repaired Tuesday and trains are again running regularly.

Drunkens Outlaws.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 10.—In a drunken row in a illicit distillery near the North Carolina line, three miles from Ducktown, Monday night, the Norman boys noted desperadoes shot and killed Hill Cross and fatally stabbed James Cross. They made their escape in the mountains and have not yet been arrested. Officers are in pursuit.

Girls on a Strike.

MUNCIE, Ind., April 10.—Twenty girls employed at the Henryray Glass Co.'s factories are out on a strike for wages, and have been causing the managers of the factory no small amount of trouble. They have been receiving on an average of $2.50 per week, and wanted $3, which was refused them.

Fast Runaway.

LEBANON, Ind., April 10.—While John Anderson, a prominent farmer living six miles east of this city, was driving to Lebanon Tuesday morning his horse shied at a hog by the roadside and ran away, throwing his wife down an embankment and inflicting injuries from which she died late Tuesday afternoon.

CHICAGO, April 10.—The Hagenbeck train, which was used to transport the victors to the Midway Plaisance of the World's fair, was sold Tuesday at auction by the sheriff to satisfy a judgment of $4,700 of the Norfolk and Western railroad running into this city. The bridge over the East river was carried away. The horses were blown down here.

Homes Acre.

The Capital.

When Mr. O'Brien goes to the capitol to be a member of the Committee on Foreign Relations it is noticeable that he almost invariably enters the Republican side of the chamber, and proceeds at once to the seat of his friend Mr. Sherman. Graham shrugged his shoulders and smilingly replied:

"Yes, I think that is right; 50 per cent. Democrat and 50 per cent. Republican."

COLLAPSED.

Two Buildings at Wheeling Fall Without Warning.

Burying About a Dozen Men Within the Ruins.

A Large Force of Men Put to Work at Once to Rescue the Infortunates, But Their Efforts Were Unavailing.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 10.—At 8:20 o'clock Tuesday morning one of the most fearful disasters in the history of West Virginia occurred. Two of the grandest buildings in the city fell, with scarcely a moment's warning, burying about a dozen men within the ruins.

The structures were each five stories high and were occupied by T. T. Hutchinson & Co., wholesale dealers in leather and hardware, and W. L. Chapman & Sons, dealers in hardware and builders' supplies. The Chapman building was commenced last fall and was not nearing completion when the accident occurred. The two buildings are adjoining, the Hutchinson building being on the corner of Alley and Bond street.

At the hour mentioned the employees heard an ominous cracking, the big structure gave a convulsive tremble and, with a crash, the south wall fell, tearing down the flooring and structural work.

At the same time W. L. Clifton, at work in Chapman's, noticed the sand falling out of the wall separating the two buildings. He immediately gave the alarm and started for the door. Before he had reached it licks and mortar were falling down in showers, and just as he got out the crash came. The south wall fell, tearing down the flooring and structural work.

The ruins caught fire and before the department arrived were giving rise to a dense, blinding smoke, which made the work of rescuing very difficult. At noon the following men had either been taken out dead or were known to be lost.

Father F. H. Park, vicar general. W. N. Friedman, merchant. Buckhannon, W. Va. Eugene Barker, a Hutchinson & Co. Robert Winchester, a Hutchinson & Co. Harry Cook, Western union messenger.

Michael Horan, employee of Hutchinson. The last four named have not yet been found, but it is hardly possible they are alive, the debris being piled in the rear portion of the ruins, which is burning so fiercely that rescue work is impossible. Wm. Crabbe, the cabman, and Towel were caught in the alley.

The injured—T. T. Hutchinson, senior member of the Hutchinson & Co., a big broken and internal injury, with a probable recovery. O. E. Williams, carpenter, severe cuts on head, not serious. W. W. Clifton, carpenter, severe cuts on head; not serious.

M. J. Ford, salesman for Hutchinson, hip broken. Chas. Haller, bookkeeper, and H. Huns, escaped unhurt.

The cause of the accident was the alleged defective construction of the Hutchinson building, which was weakened a year or so ago by the addition of two stories, but only made at least $25,000, as both the buildings and stock are total loss. The seriousness of the situation was added to by natural gas settling first on the Hutchinson and the blaze spreading to S. M. Rice & Co.'s building across the alley.

At 1:30 o'clock the fire department and the firemen were just about holding their own with the flames. The work of tearing away the debris was proceeding rapidly Tuesday night, but only one man has been taken out, that of Irvichard, of Buckhannon. It is now positively known that the bodies of Winchester, Horan, Cook, Hirsch and Father Park are still buried in the ruins and if they were not killed by the crash, they have surely been suffocated or burned to death. William Crabbe, the cabman reported missing Tuesday morning, turned up Tuesday afternoon. He had been driving in the city, and not returning by the required time, was given up for lost. It is said that a cab and driver were caught in the alley, but it is not known whom it is. Father Park was the oldest Catholic priest in this diocese.

SANDBLOCKED.

Terrible Experience of Kansas and Colorado of the Railways.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 10.—The railroads have been battling with a new enemy in western Kansas and eastern Colorado since last Friday night. It was a combination sand and snow storm, which swept over those regions, completely blocking the schedules, and causing serious inconvenience and discomfort to travelers.

The flakes of snow and particles of sand mingled and were driven across the prairies at a terrific speed by the gale, which blew incessantly for two days. There was no sign of human life, because the storm was accompanied by the usual degree of cold, but many cattle and horses in western Kansas are reported to have been suffocated by the whirling clouds of sand. The sand and snow filled up the railroad cuts and buried the tracks. The railroad companies were compelled to engage men with picks and shovels to remove the sand from the track. On east the isolated train, the condition of the traveler was not much better. Every door and window was kept closed to shut out the sand, yet it sifted in between the cracks of the cars and covered everything was giddy to the touch. The air in the cars became hot and stifling, and the passengers were in a desperate condition, compelled to go without food. The trains are arriving from five to twenty-four hours late.

MINE HORROR.

Nineteen Lives Were Lost at New Whatcom.

Details of the Disaster Told By One of the Survivors.

The Explosion Took Place About the Hour for the New Shift to go to the mine. The Presence of the Deadly Gas.

New Whatcom, Wash., April 10.—It is known now that nineteen lives were lost in the mine disaster here. The formation of the mine and the story told by the two survivors show the explosion occurred a third of a mile from the entrance to the mine.

According to Kearns, the only survivor thus far known, who was working in one of the chambers, the explosion occurred in a breast or working about 1,000 feet from where the tunnel terminated in the gallery. As the main vertical shaft pierces the gallery close by the intersection of the tunnel, it could not be poorly carried off the poisonous vapor following the ignition of the fire damp. The noise of the explosion, however, was not heard in the chambers to be, but they entered the gallery only to be overcome by the deadly gas.

The shock was slight where Kearns was working, as he claims his lamp was not put out, nor was he thrown down by the concussion. It is a mystery, however, that he should have been able to pass through the gallery to the exit passage in the face of the poisonous vapor, and he tells a weird story of stumbling over bodies of victims and downfalls of debris in getting out.

The victim the rescuers found was on entering the gallery after traversing the 300 feet of the tunnel. A mule driver and his beast were found dead not over 100 feet from the tunnel, and from that point bodies were found close to the internals, showing how quickly the unfortunate were overcome on starting for the outer air.

The man Kellum, the only survivor besides Kearns thus far known, was working near the entrance to the tunnel. It was about the hour for the new shift to go on duty, and the men were already on the way from the barrels to the tunnel when the explosion was heard.
